Dear Rebriarina Hapsari,

Thank you for submitting the manuscript, "The Efficiency of Selective Pooling Strategy in a COVID-19 Diagnostic Laboratory" to The Journal of Infection in Developing Countries, with ID#14359. With the online journal management system that we are using, you will be able to track its progress through the editorial process by logging in to the journal web site:

Manuscript URL: <https://www.jdc.org/index.php/journal/authorDashboard/submission/14359>

Username: rebriarina

Please acknowledge you are required to monitor the status of your submission on the journal site.

Once logged in, check the Submissions tab, and you will see a list of your active submission(s), and instructions on actions required on your side.

IMPORTANT : If the submission is accepted for Peer Review, you are required to contact your assigned section editor about the status of the Peer Review process. No information on editorial process can be provided by the technical staff.

If your article is accepted for publication, you will be asked for a Article Processing Charge of €366,- (incl. VAT), to cover editing and publication costs.

Since we don't want to make the payment capability to be a barrier, if you or your institution is unable to cover the costs, you may apply for a waiver by sending a detailed letter to waiverequest@jdc.org, explaining the reasons of your request at the time of submission. Waive requests after the review has been initiated can not be considered.

IMPORTANT: Please note that the JIDC cannot be held responsible for emails from the editors or proofreaders that are not received by authors due to errors in spam filters on public email servers such as Yahoo, Hotmail or Gmail.

Please add jdc.org to your email service's trusted email list and make sure to frequently check online for changes in your manuscript's status. As mentioned above, no information on editorial process can be provided by the technical staff.

Thank you for considering this journal as a venue for your work.
